Market Outlook

Indian equities traded in the negative territory throughout the day on Wednesday and after giving a gap down opening, Nifty fell to make a low of 9882.90 and then it rose to make a high of 9931.50. At the end of the day the index closed at 9916.20. It had a net loss of 0.36% over the previous trading day's close. The midcap and small cap indices outshined the benchmark index and closed the day in green. On the sectoral front, FMCG, Information Technology and Pharmaceuticals stocks were the main catalysts to drag the market down while Metal and Financial services stocks have shown some strength. The breadth of the market was slightly positive with more advances than declines.

Nifty has started facing rough weather post persistent rallying for past 8 months. At levels of 10,000 Nifty trades at 23.5 PE on FY17 earning and 21.5 PE on FY18 expected earnings. Though improving fundamental is key to making money through investing but such high valuations surely reduce the yield on investment.

For trader's too high valuation implies inferior risk-reward. And high valuation always has 3 outcomes- price correction, time correction or sharp earning growth. But recently concluded Q1FY18 results belie any hope of sharp earning growth at least in FY18 and this leaves market dependent on the remaining 2 alternatives.

Also, Nifty has been moving up in sync with global markets all through 2017 and now also Nifty is expected to move in tandem with global markets.

In terms of derivative 9700-10000 is the base range for Nifty for September series.

DHFL

7th Sept 2017

DHFL has continuously performed well in its operating parameters with healthy AUM growth and stable assets quality.

With healthy capitalization of CRAR at 18.6%, we expect AUM growth of 19%-20% going forward. However increase in self employed segment loan to 50% and loan book of more than 34% in non-core assets will be key area of risk for assets quality. Due to intensive competition yield are under pressure, however efficient mix of liability profile and increased share of non retail loans will help the company to protect its margins hence we factor stable margin performance in our estimate. In FY17 DHFL was able to control its operating expenses significantly which helped to reduce the C/I ratio by 3.6%. We expect C/I ratio in declining trend as company continues to improve its productivity. We expect the earnings to grow at a CAGR of 24% over FY17 to FY19. We expect the RoA and RoE of 1.2% and 15% respectively in FY19.

A recent report by property consultants and research firm, Liases Foras indicated healthy sales growth within affordable housing segment in the country. We think DHFL being focused on low ticket size loan will be primary beneficiary. With the recent rally in stock price, DHFL has achieved our target price of Rs 545 (previous recommendation at Rs 449) but considering improving key triggers for the company we increase the target price and recommend to book profit on DHFL around Rs 575 (1.8x BV FY19).
